

The morning of the Highland Games' Day

In the morning, the students listened to Gavin Anderson a Scottish man, in the study room. Gavin played 3 different videos about Scotland :

- The history of Scotland
- The highland games
- The Flag and symbols of Scotland.

Gavin Anderson played the bagpipes and explained how this instrument worked. Then, he looked at our posters, he commented on them and asked us questions. For example, he asked us if we believed in the Loch Ness monster and all the pupils answered "no !"

To finish, the pupils sang the national anthem of Scotland named « Flower of Scotland ».

It was a very good conference, the presenter was really funny and cool !

We really enjoyed it because we learned a lot about some Scottish facts.
